Policy on Probation and Disqualification

This revised policy was recommended by the Academic Senate on March 28, 2002, and approved by the President on April 9, 2002. It was further revised on July 30, 2002, to bring it into conformity with Executive Order 823, issued by the Chancellor on May 29, 2002.

Scholastic Probation and Disqualification

In this policy, progress toward the degree is defined as reducing the deficiency in grade point average and earning a C or better in one or more courses that will count toward fulfilling that student's General Education or major requirements.

Academic Probation

Undergraduate students are placed on academic probation if at any time their cumulative grade point average in all college work attempted or their cumulative GPA at California State University, Long Beach falls below 2.0 (C). Graduate students are placed on academic probation when their cumulative grade point average or grade point average on all courses applicable to the degree falls below 3.0. Other post-baccalaureate students are placed on academic probation when their cumulative grade point average falls below 2.5.

Undergraduate students will be removed from academic probation when their cumulative grade point average in all college work attempted and their cumulative grade point average at California State University, Long Beach is 2.0 (C) or higher. Students who remain on academic probation for more than two consecutive semesters are subject to academic disqualification. Students actively participating in an intervention program may request an extension of time to achieve a 2.0 GPA. Such extension will be granted if, and only if, the student is making progress toward the degree.

Graduate students will be removed from academic probation when their overall grade point average and grade point average on all courses applicable to the degree are 3.0 (B) or higher.

Other post-baccalaureate students will be removed from academic probation when their overall grade point average is 2.5 or higher.

Graduate and post-baccalaureate students are subject to disqualification if while on probation they fail to earn grades of sufficient quality to remove themselves from probationary status. Disqualification will bar such students from any further enrollment at the campus.

Administrative Academic Probation

An undergraduate or graduate student may be placed on administrative academic probation by action of appropriate campus officials for any of the following reasons:

1. Withdrawal from all or a substantial portion of a program of studies in two successive semesters or in any three semesters;
