Harassment on Campus: A Quick Guide to Respond

Being a member of the Beach community means that you may come across things on campus or the internet and social media which you don't agree with – or that specifically targets you, a group of individuals, or an ideology. The University makes every effort to make sure all students, staff, faculty, and guests are treated fairly. In that spirit, this guide H às, staff,

Tips for students, staff, and faculty

Office of Student Conduct and Ethical Development USU – 238 / (562) 985-5270

http://web.csulb.edu/divisions/students/judicial_affairs/

Office of Equity and Diversity Foundation – 120 / (562) 985-8256

https://web.csulb.edu/gobeach/depts/oed/

For issues related to the posting of materials rsity-police

An anonymous crime tip can be submitted by following the link on the right side of the webpage.

Internet Crime Complaint Center (IC3)

https://www.ic3.gov/default.aspx